

Deer Solution in the Lowcountry Aims to Solve the Deer Problem

Resident responds to the Lowcountry's Growing Residential Deer Population Challenge

BEAUFORT, SC, UNITED STATES, January 26, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As a homeowner in South Carolina's picturesque Lowcountry, Nick Bradley embodies the dream of creating a thriving outdoor space filled with vibrant plants and landscape features. Yet, like many homeowners in the region, this dream has been threatened by the increasing challenge of deer who have taken a liking to his carefully nurtured landscaping.

New franchisee, Nick Bradley(l) with co-founders of Deer Solution, Kris(c) and Jaime Goodrich(r).

After 24 years of living in the Lowcountry and witnessing the steady increase in deer populations, Nick understands all too well the emotional toll it takes when deer invade yards, devouring prized flowers and shrubs. Seeing the increasing frustration among homeowners inspired Nick to make a change—he wanted to help protect the beauty of local landscapes.

It's a challenge that saddens me as I recognize the emotional toll it takes on homeowners who just want to enjoy their landscaping. I want to help neighbors experience the joy of gardening again.”
