Emergency Overdose Cabinets (EOC). The foundation works with a manufacturer that will provide these OECs for approximately 25% less than any other competitive cabinet makers in the USA. CEO Chris Cavallo, when asked about the importance of these Emergency Overdose Cabinets, stated, "These EOCs filled with Free Narcan are a crucial resource in combating opioid overdoses, as well as becoming a key financial solution for the foundation moving forward."

A contract with a local Broward County City will soon be announced, allowing the foundation to install its EOC next to the 49 AED cabinets strategically placed around the city. Having these EOCs out in public will enable the citizens of this Broward County city to know exactly where to retrieve Free Narcan at a moment's notice".

Strategic Partnerships and Collaborations

The Robin Foundation underscores the importance of strategic alliances in achieving its mission through partnerships with organizations like The United Way, Broward Sheriff's Office, Nova Southeastern University, Hollywood Fire and Rescue Dept, FL Dept of Health, FL Dept of Children and Family Services and the Foundation's home base near the Davie Fire/Rescue Department. The Robin Foundation aims to expand its reach and impact in saving lives from overdose fatalities.

The Walk for Lives is a grassroots response to the Fentanyl scourge led by the survivors-siblings, grandparents, and friends with walks in communities across the USA.”

Upcoming Initiatives in 2025

Community Training Initiatives

As part of the ongoing community outreach, the Robin Foundation will not only continue to provide training to various employers throughout South Florida but is also happy to announce a training program for high school students with a program called TINAD (This Is Not About Drugs) through a partnership agreement with Overdose Lifeline. These new training models will allow the Robin Foundation to customize their training programs further and extend the training times from 30-60-90 minutes to longer, including various Polls, Surveys, and Q&A. The foundation has received numerous requests for employers and students to experience these new customized training modules.

In closing, The Robin Foundation expresses its most profound appreciation for the dedication and support of its community. Together, we can continue to make a difference and save lives, especially in the fight against opioid/fentanyl overdose fatalities.
