

RegulatingAI Applauds President Trump's Stargate Initiative, Reinforcing U.S. Leadership in AI Innovation

WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES, January 25, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- RegulatingAI, a leading non-profit initiative under Knowledge Networks dedicated to advancing ethical AI governance, has commended President Trump's announcement of the Stargate project—a $500 billion joint venture involving OpenAI, Oracle, and SoftBank. This initiative represents a significant investment in artificial intelligence infrastructure, aiming to bolster the United States' position at the forefront of global AI innovation.

Sanjay Puri, Founder and President of RegulatingAI, stated: "The Stargate project marks a pivotal moment for U.S. leadership in AI technology. RegulatingAI is committed to collaborating with the administration and industry leaders to ensure that these advancements are guided by robust ethical standards and will also provide opportunities for small and startup ventures, which typically lack the resources of larger companies, to access the heavy compute power needed for AI advancements, enabling them to compete and innovate on a more level playing field."

The Stargate initiative plans to invest up to $500 billion over the next four years, with an initial $100 billion investment. The project aims to create over 100,000 American jobs and is expected to drive significant advancements in AI infrastructure, including the construction of data centers and the development of advanced AI technologies. We hope that Stargate.

About RegulatingAI: RegulatingAI, an initiative of Knowledge Networks, is a non-profit organization focused on promoting ethical AI governance. We empower regulators, industry leaders, and advocacy groups with the knowledge and tools necessary to shape the future of AI technologies, ensuring they are developed with trust and transparency.
