

NVBDC Military & Veteran Organization Task Force Welcomes Interactive Advocacy as Newest Member

DETROIT, MI, UNITED STATES, January 27, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ --

National Veteran Business

Development Council \(NVBDC\) proudly announces that Interactive Advocacy has joined the NVBDC Military & Veteran Organization (MVO) Task Force. This partnership reflects both organizations' commitment to supporting and empowering the military and veteran community.

Interactive Advocacy, founded by Dr. Tanya O. Jones, a veteran and trauma survivor, is dedicated to preventing violence and fostering resilience through innovative, research-based training methods. By combining theater, psychology, and education, Interactive Advocacy inspires individuals and organizations to create safer, more inclusive communities.

"Partnering with the NVBDC MVO Task Force aligns perfectly with our mission to support and empower the military and veteran community," said Dr. Jones. "The task force's commitment to fostering success among veteran-owned businesses complements our work in creating safe and resilient environments. Together, we are building a brighter future for active-duty personnel, veterans and their families."

Keith King, Founder & CEO, National Veteran Business Development Council (NVBDC)

Interactive Advocacy offers tailored violence prevention training and intervention services. Through immersive, theatrical training sessions, research-based trauma-informed educational programs, and ongoing support, the organization addresses harmful behaviors associated with trauma and fosters resilience within the military community.

Key Accomplishments and Programs

Interactive Advocacy has achieved significant milestones in its mission, including:

Hosting interactive training sessions at multiple military installations, where 95% of participants reported increased confidence in preventing and responding to violence.

Launching the acclaimed program, "Don't Just Stand There!™," which has been widely recognized for its impactful approach to addressing toxic behaviors and fostering accountability.

Preparing for an upcoming immersive training series at Fort Johnson, Vernon Parish, LA this February, designed specifically for military and veteran audiences to build resilience and promote healthy relationships.

Lieutenant Colonel (Ret) Kathryn Poynton, Director, NVBDC MVO Task Force

"The stories we share are not mere words; they are the battle cries of resilience, the echoes of hope, and the catalysts for change," said Dr. Jones.

By joining the NVBDC MVO Task Force, Interactive Advocacy will expand its reach, connecting with veteran-owned businesses and offering resources to help them thrive.
