optimal comfort and usability.

Attendees at ISE 2025 in Barcelona can experience Infinium™ at the Williams AV stand (3P640). The Infinium™ system was designed for versatility and ease of use with an architecture preferred by system integrators. The transmitter combines functionality and aesthetics, offering a plug-and-play setup for effortless installation and a low-profile design that blends into any environment. A separate controller with integrated Dante® ensures seamless integration into modern AV systems while providing flexible programming and monitoring options. For venues looking to offer guests a listening device, the system includes an ergonomically designed receiver for

The Future of Broadcast Audio

“Infinium™ represents a major leap forward in assistive listening,” said

Brad Kautzer, President and CEO of Williams AV. “By leveraging Auracast™ technology, we are making professional-grade audio more accessible and easier to deploy than ever before.

Infinium™ empowers venues to seamlessly provide intelligible audio to all guests, regardless of their hearing needs, ensuring an inclusive experience across diverse environments.”

Infinium™, which will ship in the Summer of 2025, highlights Williams AV’s commitment to advancing assistive communication technology and is an ideal solution for transportation hubs, education facilities, theaters, and fitness centers.
