NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, January 29, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As per a new study published by Knowledge Sourcing Intelligence, the ginger oil market is projected to grow at a CAGR of 3.02% between 2025 and 2030 to reach an amount of US$14.545 billion by 2030.

Ginger oil is obtained by processing the root part of the ginger plant called Zingiber officinale. The essential oil from ginger looks like a thick yellow liquid with a powerful, spicy smell. Ginger's spicy taste comes from Zingiberene, and its woody scent comes from Sesquiphellandrene content. Study shows that people have used ginger oil in ancient medicine and scent healing to help with body problems due to its natural anti-swelling effect, better

By type, the ginger oil market can be classified into conventional and organic. The organic ginger oil segment is expected to witness a rise due to more people choosing organic because of the rise in awareness of its health benefits while keeping their environment clean. Conventional ginger oil continues to capture the biggest market share since it comes at a cheaper price and is comparatively more available than organic ginger oils.

The ginger oil market is segmented by application into food and beverages, cosmetics, and others. The ginger oil market is expected to have a major market share in the food and beverages industry because of the rise in consumers who use it to flavor their cooking and drinks such as baked goods, and soft drinks, among others. The ginger oil's unique taste and fragrance make the product widely utilized in diverse dishes leading to the expansion of the market.

The ginger oil market is segmented by distribution channel into offline and online. The offline segment is divided into supermarkets and others. The offline segment which majorly involves supermarkets and hypermarkets controls most of the ginger oil market because they have locations across the country and already have a loyal customer base. Though online sales are on the rise, most ginger oil ends up coming from well-established offline distribution channels because of a well-established infrastructure presence.

Based on geography, the Asia Pacific region of the ginger oil market is growing significantly. The ginger oil market in the Asia Pacific region is expected to witness major growth because of India and China, as these two nations grow a large amount of ginger annually. More people want organic ginger oil because of the rise in the health and fitness trend in the region. Further, ginger oil works well as a natural flavoring and food additive, which makes it increasingly utilized in the regional food and beverage industry. In traditional Indian and Chinese medicine, ginger oil has long been selected as an essential part of healing ingredient mixtures, leading to the growth of the market.
