

Revascent Expands Services and Reach with Strategic Acquisition of Healthcare Process Consulting

BOISE, ID, UNITED STATES, February 4, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Revascent, a leader in revenue management and billing solutions, announced today that it acquired Healthcare Process Consulting \(HPC\), a provider of administrative and billing services to school districts across Ohio for more than 31 years.

The specialized expertise that Revascent and HPC each brings to the table means that every client will have an elevated and time-efficient experience that comes from streamlined workflows.”

Chris Brazil, CEO, Revascent

The acquisition advances both companies’ shared vision to empower clients through optimized revenue cycle management, technology, innovative services, and dedicated support. By adding HPC, Revascent expands and enhances its extensive national experience in Medicaid/Medicare and all medical insurance billing.

Revascent’s innovative software and efficient documentation solutions will help HPC clients comply with the Ohio Medicaid Agency’s strict guidelines, both now and later this year as Medicaid School Program (MSP) eligibility expands beginning July 1, 2025. The planned MSP expansion ushers in a wider range of medical services provided in school settings for students, including students enrolled in regular education.

Revascent will significantly enhance the technology infrastructure and services supporting HPC’s proprietary software, Edu-Doc®, to provide best-in-class experiences for school administrators, treasurers, and providers. Partners will prioritize HPC system enhancements that boost functionality, documentation processes, and integration with mental health and nursing EHR systems.

“This partnership reflects our commitment to growth and innovation, and our dedication to deliver incomparable service to our clients,” said Revascent CEO, Chris Brazil. “The specialized expertise that Revascent and HPC each brings to the table means that every client will have an elevated and time-efficient experience that comes from streamlined workflows.”

"Joining forces with Revascent provides new avenues of growth and innovation for our clients," said Karen Miller, RN, HPC's Co-President of Medicaid Expansion. "We are thrilled that this partnership brings additional resources and capabilities to HPC's existing technology infrastructure to ensure delivery of quality medical services that best serve children in need."

"Our partnership with Revascent sets up HPC to continue leading the way with exceptional technology platforms like our HIPAA-compliant Edu-Doc© software, which increases documentation productivity for clients," said Kritesh Patel, Co-President of Operations at HPC. "HPC will also dedicate an internal technology team to the new Edu-Doc© 4.0 to ensure that clients are ready for school Medicaid expansion. These innovative solutions will allow us to reduce administrative burdens and provide even greater value to our clients."

During and after its integration into the Revascent portfolio, HPC will continue to operate as a stand-alone brand. Co-Presidents Karen Miller, RN and Kritesh Patel will continue in their current roles at HPC.
