HR technology ecosystems are expanding rapidly, but integration challenges often slow down adoption and limit scalability. Disparate systems, API inconsistencies, and high maintenance costs create inefficiencies, increasing the burden on HR teams and IT departments. By combining Azilen’s expertise in HR software engineering and integration with The Cloud Connectors’ pre-built integrations, the partnership enables a cost-effective, faster, and more reliable approach to HRTech interoperability.

“HR solution providers cannot afford integration challenges to slow down their innovation. With this partnership, we are removing those roadblocks — allowing them to focus on delivering smarter, scalable, and more connected HR experiences. With our deep HRTech expertise and The Cloud Connectors' robust integration framework, we are enabling frictionless data exchange, process automation, and faster go-to-market execution.” – said, Naresh Prajapati, CEO, Azilen Technologies.

The Cloud Connectors’ library of pre-built integrations, combined with Azilen’s custom HRTech product engineering, offers a plug-and-play approach to integrations — eliminating the need for expensive, time-consuming custom development. HCM solution providers will be able to accelerate time-to-market, reduce operational overhead, and enhance data integrity and compliance.

The partnership will also streamline iPaaS integrations with leading HR platforms such as Workday, UKG, Greenhouse, HiBob, ADP, and HRTech
