learn Japanese from anywhere in the world. Thanks to your support, they will be celebrating their 4th year of operation this spring, and they have over 300 students from all over the world studying with them.

The school provides two types of lessons: on-demand video lessons available 24/7 and live lessons, each 90 minutes long, conducted twice a week by a team of highly qualified Japanese language instructors. Previously, video teaching materials were offered in English, Chinese, and Vietnamese. However, in response to the growing number of inquiries from Japanese language learners in Portuguese-speaking countries like Brazil, the school has now expanded its offerings to include materials in Portuguese.

The school plans to continue expanding and enhancing the range of languages offered, as one of the key advantages of AOJ Language School is that students can learn Japanese in their native language.

The Spring Semester 2025, currently open for applications, offers courses for all levels of the JLPT (Japanese Language Proficiency Test), from N5 to N1, catering to various learning needs and proficiency levels. Applications can be submitted through the online application form, which takes just one minute to complete. The school also provides free trial lessons and online information sessions. To participate or learn more, please contact the school via the inquiry form. Additionally, you can visit the website to ask questions or request information materials.
