These comprehensive kits included heaters, coats, socks, and blankets, aiming to alleviate the burdens faced by struggling families and to mitigate the risk of cold-related illnesses such as respiratory infections and hypothermia.

Without this help, I wouldn't know how to keep my family warm. Every day I worry about my mother and younger siblings. You've given me hope that kindness still exists in the world.”

13-year-old, Ahmed

The stories of young beneficiaries like Ismail Han and Ahmed Farid profoundly illustrate the impact of this initiative. At just nine years old, Ismail became the primary caregiver for his two younger siblings after losing both parents in an earthquake. Upon receiving winter essentials from LIFE, he expressed, "Without this help, I would feel utterly lost. I struggled to figure out how to care for my little sisters."

Similarly, after his father's passing, thirteen-year-old

Ahmed assumed the caretaker role for his mother and younger siblings. He shared, "Without this help, I wouldn't know how to keep my family warm. Every day I worry about my mother and younger siblings. You've given me hope that kindness still exists in the world."
