Winning the Babies Best Award is an incredible honor, and it inspires us to continue innovating for the families who trust our products."

Melissa Smith, Founder and CEO, OtterSpace

the revolutionary blackout curtains featuring proprietary patented Blackout Blocks™ technology, is excited to announce it has been named a winner of the prestigious Babies Best Award. This accolade celebrates excellence in innovation, safety, and design for products that support families and children.

"This recognition underscores our commitment to helping families sleep better," said Melissa Smith, neuroscientist and founder of OtterSpace. "Winning the Babies Best Award is an incredible honor, and it inspires us to continue innovating for the families who trust our products."

Recognized for Outstanding Innovation

The Babies Best Awards highlight industry leaders whose products redefine standards of quality and functionality. OtterSpace's blackout curtains, designed to create total darkness for improved sleep and focus, stood out among hundreds of entries due to their cutting-edge design, user-friendly installation, and transformative impact on sleep quality. OtterSpace's patented Blackout Blocks™ technology, offering 100% light sealing without tools or wall damage, earned high marks for its ingenuity and effectiveness.

"OtterSpace stood out as the clear winner for this award because of its innovative approach to blackout sleep solutions for families. Their blackout curtains are not only highly effective in creating an optimal sleep environment, but they also offer portability and ease of use—perfect for parents, shift workers, and travelers alike," said Sam Breen, Founder of Babies Best Awards. "At Babies Best, we recognize products that truly make a difference in daily life, and OtterSpace has set a new standard for quality and functionality in sleep technology."
