Pepper spray is a non-lethal self-defense tool that contains oleoresin capsicum, a natural oil derived from hot peppers. When sprayed, it causes immediate irritation to the eyes, skin, and respiratory system, leading to temporary blindness, pain, and difficulty breathing. This incapacitating effect allows the user to escape from dangerous situations or subdue an aggressor. Pepper spray is commonly used by civilians for personal protection and by law enforcement agencies for crowd control and suspect restraint.

The pepper spray market is segmented into product, distribution channel, and region. On the basis of product, it is divided into fogger, stream, gel and others. On the basis of distribution channel, it is bifurcated into specialty shop and online store. Region-wise, the market is analyzed across North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific and LAMEA.

On the basis of product, it is divided into fogger, stream, gel and others. Among these, fogger segment dominated the market share in 2023 and is expected to register the highest CAGR during the forecast period., due to its ability to cover a wide area, making it highly effective for dispersing crowds and dealing with multiple attackers. According to Pepper Spray Market trends, its ease of use, requiring less precise targeting, and reliability in windy conditions further enhance its appeal. Fogger sprays also create a dense mist that incapacitates individuals more quickly and effectively than other types, making them popular for both personal defense and law enforcement applications. Law enforcement agencies, in particular, favor fogger sprays for riot control and crowd management, significantly boosting their market share and increasing the Pepper Spray Market Size and Pepper Spray Market opportunities.
