Who are the key industry players and what major drivers will stimulate the growth of the TICE BCG market?

One of the significant industry players in the TICE BCG market is Merck And Co Inc. The main growth driver of the TICE BCG market is the rising incidence of bladder cancer. Bladder cancer, especially urothelial carcinoma, originates in the cells of the bladder, the organ that stores urine. Factors such as increased smoking, exposure to harmful chemicals in specific industries, an aging population, and chronic bladder infections contribute to its increasing incidence. TICE BCG contributes to lowering bladder cancer rates by stimulating the immune system to target and destroy cancer cells. This results in reduced recurrence and progression rates in non-muscle invasive bladder cancer. For instance, according to the American Cancer Society Facts and Figures, there was an estimated increase in new bladder cancer cases from 82,290 in 2023 to 83,190 cases expected in 2024.
