Increase in demand for high bandwidth, greater safety concerns and wider applications of fiber optics connector drives the growth of the global fiber optic connectors market. The outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic led to has had a positive impact on the global fiber optic connectors market. Based on region, Asia-Pacific contributed to the highest share in terms of revenue in 2020, holding nearly two-fifths of the global aircraft tires market.

The global fiber optic connectors industry is segmented on the basis of type, application, and region. Depending on type, the market is classified into lucent connector (LC), subscriber connector (SC), straight tip (ST), multi-fiber termination push on/pull off (MTP), master unit (MU), fiber distributed data interface (FDDI), and sub multi assembly (SMA) and others. By application, it is segregated into telecom, oil and gas, military & aerospace, BFSI, medical, railway, and others. Region wise, it is analyzed across North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, and LAMEA. Some of the key players operating in the global fiber optic connectors industry include 3M, Amphenol Corporation, Aptiv, Broadcom, Extron, Molex, OCC, Siemens AG, Shenzhen ADTEK Technology Co., Ltd., and T.E. Connectivity. These players have adopted various strategies to increase their market penetration and strengthen their position in the industry.
