For more than three years, this forward-thinking agency has been leveraging the power of AI to revolutionize digital marketing strategies and deliver cutting-edge results to businesses nationwide.

This includes, but is not limited to, enhancing content creation, sales strategies, brand development, research and development, market research, and much more. Through the use of AI-powered tools and processes, Ignited has helped businesses across the United States streamline their operations, engage audiences more effectively, and amplify their marketing campaigns.

Managing Director Cody Weaver has been instrumental in leading the charge. Back in 2022, Cody taught a seminar that explored the practical applications of AI in digital marketing, guiding businesses and industry professionals through the burgeoning AI landscape. Since then, he has continued to build on this foundation, implementing next-generation AI strategies that are influencing the future of the industry. From training AI bots to integrating AI employees into workflows, Cody and his team at Ignited Digital Marketing have consistently set benchmarks for innovation.

“Our mission has always been to stay ahead of the curve and provide our clients with the best tools and strategies for success,” said Cody Weaver. “AI is not just an emerging trend—it’s a
