What drives the growth of the Zaltrap Market?

A key driving force in the growth of the Zaltrap market is the increasing prevalence of colorectal cancer. Colorectal cancer typically begins as benign polyps in the colon or rectum and potentially advances if left untreated. The prevalence rate has been increasing due to an aging population, unhealthy diets, obesity, being overweight, and genetic predisposition. Zaltrap, being a vascular endothelial growth factor VEGF inhibitor, prevents the formation of new blood vessels angiogenesis, thereby cutting off the tumor's blood supply. This intervention slows disease progression and enhances survival outcomes for colorectal cancer patients.

Who are the main players in the Zaltrap market?

Major companies operating in the Zaltrap market include Sanofi S.A., an organization dedicated to making strides in providing advanced solutions for cancer therapy.

How is the Zaltrap market segmented?

The comprehensive Zaltrap market report covers varied segments. These include:
