Veterans for America First launches Vet Force, a national volunteer program for VFAF

The VFAF Vet Force program will be modeled after the very successful Trump Force 47 campaign volunteer program. The organizations Tiffany Savage created the concept for the national leadership team. Savage serves as the VFAF National Communications Director and was a Field Director in Georgia for the Trump presidential campaign.

"During the presidential campaign, we had about 500 volunteers join us, who were forwarded to Team Trump, along with an additional 100 since then. We are now in the process of working backward, vetting the volunteers, and will be contacting them to engage in the VFAF mission within their respective states." said Stan Fitzgerald Director of Educational Projects.
