

Boutiques Singapore Returns with Largest Lineup Ever, Promising Exclusive Launches, Collaborations, New Dining Concept

From March 21-23, Boutiques Singapore returns with 320+ brands, exclusive launches, collaborations, new dining, cosy lounges, and expanded amenities.

SINGAPORE, February 17, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Boutiques Singapore is back with The Spring Summer Edition 2025, happening from 21 to 23 March at the F1 Pit Building. With over 320 local and international brands, this edition marks its largest lineup ever. From globally renowned fashion labels to artisanal crafts, unique wellness offerings, and delectable food and drink options, Boutiques Singapore continues to showcase the best of creativity and innovation from Singapore and beyond. This edition, fashion takes centre stage with a curated selection of designs from both established and emerging designers, many launching exclusive collections.

Boutiques Singapore Spring-Summer 2025 Edition

Introducing The Garage

A brand-new dining concept, The Garage, debuts on Level 1, transforming the utilitarian 1000sqm space used by pit crews during the Singapore Grand Prix into an industrial-chic food haven. With seating for over 300 diners, it offers both sheltered and alfresco options. Visitors can look forward to an impressive lineup of food and beverage vendors, many appearing at Boutiques Singapore for the first time.

Indulge in award-winning smoked meats from Blue Smoke or hearty rice bowls inspired by Thai flavours from Khao. Fresh produce lovers can shop sustainably grown vegetables from Talula Hill Farms, while craft beer enthusiasts can sip refreshing drinks from local brewery Sunbird Brewing. The offerings extend across the event venue, including a Halal-certified pasta pop-up by Tipo Pasta Bar in Room 3A, seating up to 60 people.

Exciting New Brands and Exclusive Launches

Boutiques Singapore continues to champion fresh talent and unique designs with new additions like activewear from Sunday Pilates Club, eco-friendly menswear by Plain Prints Project, and the umami-rich offerings of Matsu Matcha. Beît Ballout, a Lebanese brand, will also showcase its premium cold-pressed olive oils.

International highlights include FREY., a Hong Kong-based brand renowned for its sustainable luxury business attire, and WN White Noise, which crafts bags and pouches from recycled nylon. This edition also introduces exclusive collaborations such as a pendant capsule collection by Maverick Made. and Lievik Atelier, as well as wellness innovations by Moom Health in partnership with brands like Mr Bucket and Jammy's.

Returning favourites like GRAYE will debut a capsule collection in collaboration with SukkhaCitta, supporting women in local communities, while ANAABU will unveil its Eid 2025 collection. Shoppers can also explore Palola's new stiletto collaboration with Amanda Leong, skincare launches from RE:ERTH, and Del Rio Jewels' Italian Summer collection inspired by the Amalfi Coast.

Community Engagement

EQUAL, one of the charities partnering with Boutiques Singapore

giving back, Boutiques Singapore has partnered with two charities for this edition: The Artground and EQUAL. Both organisations will host experiential and educational workshops suitable for visitors of all ages. From creating photo collages to crafting friendship bracelets, these activities offer a meaningful way for attendees to engage with the community.

Enhanced Visitor Experiences

Beyond shopping, Boutiques Singapore elevates the visitor experience with expanded amenities. The Vinyl Music Lounge in Room 2A provides a cosy retreat where up to 20 guests can unwind with curated records and enjoy drinks tailored to their musical selection.

For breathtaking views of the waterfront, head to the Viewing Lounge in Room 3D, an ideal spot to relax and mingle. The Drinks Lounge in Room 3B offers a variety of local beers and global spirits, while parents can enjoy upgraded facilities with an expanded nursing area in Room 2C.

Boutiques Showcase Grant: Supporting Creativity

The Boutiques Showcase Grant celebrates groundbreaking creativity and exceptional craftsmanship by spotlighting original, high-quality work that redefines innovation. This initiative underscores Boutique Fairs' commitment to fostering innovation, supporting local and regional talents, and inspiring the next generation of creatives.

This year's recipients include:

1. .bungkus: A sustainable fashion brand repurposing plastic waste into unique accessories while empowering low-income communities in Malaysia.
2. Plain Prints Project: A slow fashion menswear brand using eco-friendly fabrics and non-toxic inks, offering thoughtfully designed, made-to-order pieces.
3. UBIQ Watches: Known for blending vintage aesthetics with modern functionality, UBIQ will unveil its upcoming titanium field watch, TREK, alongside its vibrant DUAL Series 01.
4. Sunday Pilates Club: Elevating grip socks and activewear with chic designs, debuting its "Sundays at Wimbledon" collection.
5. Apostrophe The Label: Specialising in sustainable resort wear designed in small batches with repurposed fabrics, embodying effortless elegance.

A Dynamic Hub for Collaborations

Boutiques Singapore thrives as a creative hub, hosting exclusive collaborations that push the boundaries of design. Maverick Made. and Lievik Atelier will debut their co-forged leather pendant collection, crafted in West Java. Meanwhile, Moom Health introduces wellness chocolates, energy gummies, and other innovative products developed in partnership with vendors like Jammy's and Mr Bucket.

Early bird tickets are priced at $8 until 28 February, while regular tickets are available for $10 from 1 March to 23 March. Each ticket includes unlimited 3-day access, free entry for children under 12, and one Redemption Perk, redeemable while stocks last.
