This update enhances our ability to connect Coloradans with meaningful training and work-based learning opportunities tailored to their unique strengths and goals.”

Sueann Casey, CXO at Indigo

The ETPL is a critical resource for individuals seeking training programs that are approved for Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) funding. It includes a comprehensive list of education and training providers that meet state and federal standards for workforce readiness. With this update, users of the CCA Tool can seamlessly explore approved training programs that align with in-demand career paths. These programs are available to citizens via the Colorado Workforce Centers.

The Career Development Incentive Program (CDIP) provides funding for high school students who earn industry-recognized credentials in key occupational fields. By incorporating the latest CDIP data, the CCA Tool helps students and educators identify high-value certification programs that enhance employability and career prospects.

The Colorado Apprenticeships dataset connects individuals to hands-on learning opportunities that allow them to earn while they learn. These programs offer structured career training in industries ranging from healthcare and IT to skilled trades and advanced manufacturing. The CCA Tool's integration of updated apprenticeship opportunities ensures that job seekers can find relevant, high-quality programs that provide pathways to long-term career success.

"By integrating these datasets into the CCA Tool's career matching section, we're empowering individuals to make informed decisions about their education and career paths," said Sueann Casey, CXO at Indigo Education Company. "This update enhances our ability to connect Coloradans with meaningful training and work-based learning opportunities tailored to their unique strengths and goals."

In addition to exploring career matches through the CCA Tool, individuals seeking comprehensive information on training providers, industry-recognized credentials, and apprenticeships can access master datasets through the following public resources:
