We, through our expertise in Flexitanks, have helped businesses optimise their supply chains while maintaining the integrity and safety of their products.”

Joseph Cohen, MD of LiquA

Now widely known as the revolutionary bulk liquid transport changers, Flexitanks are the stars of LiquA. General-purpose, environmentally friendly, recyclable containers that can be used by any company in any industry to safely and economically export non-hazardous liquids is what LiquA has become a reliable source of highly versatile Flexitank upon request from a wide range of customer enterprise needs, including foodstuffs and industrial chemicals.

LiquA's mission, according to Joseph Cohen, the MD of LiquA, is to offer novel, reliable, and environmentally friendly processing solutions for transport in bulk liquids. "We, through our expertise in Flexitanks, have helped businesses optimise their supply chains while maintaining the integrity and safety of their products. "

LiquA has become well-known in the industry over time for its advanced technology and striven quality standards that are well above industry standards. The dedication of the company to the field of research and development has enabled it to provide the industry's most durable Flexitanks that prevent leaks, survive intense conditions, and adhere to all applicable industry regulations.

Over the years, LiquA has introduced many unique flexitanks such as the E-Flex Easy Flexitank (which does not require bulkheads, guarantees no bulging, can load up to 27,000 litres-highest payload in the industry), H-Flex Heater Flexitank (that can heat the product at destination 20 times faster), T-Flex, Truck Flexitank (the only mono-block, safe flexitank for trucks), R-Flex Reefer Flexitank, A-Flex Aseptic Flexitank, which are referred to as its commitment to pioneering solutions to effectively answer the shifting requirements of the logistics industry. These advancements confirm the company's leadership status in the sector as well as its commitment to providing value to its partners and clients.

Thanks to the Worldwide Network and a team of professionals led by experts with high qualifications, LiquA is sufficiently equipped to deal with the coming liquid transport challenges. The company offers technical expertise and personalized assistance so that no matter where a shipment or delivery is, every delivery always arrives safely and is discharged smoothly.

About LiquA

LiquA is a pioneer of liquid logistics, focusing on innovative Flexitank technology for the secure and effective transportation of bulk liquids. Dedicated to quality, sustainability and customer satisfaction, LiquA provides clients with customised solutions rooted in decades of experience and industry knowledge.
