Feta cheese is obtained from sheep and goat milk. It is very nutritious and tasty. It is a useful ingredient served in a variety of dishes, toppings of sandwiches, salads & snacks, and others. The fat content present in feta cheese is low as compared to other cheese. It is manufactured in Germany and then exported to other countries. It is always included in the German diet.

Increase in fast food consumption and rise in awareness among people about the health benefits of feta cheese drive the demand for cheese products. Moreover, surge in popularity of European food culture is the major factor that drives the growth of the feta cheese market. Furthermore, immigrants have the habit of carrying their culture wherever they migrate, which has a significant impact on the modern food culture.

For instance, pasta and pizza are common food consumed in the western countries. With upsurge in demand for feta cheese, advancements in technologies in the cheese industry have led to rapid curing of feta cheese. Different flavors of feta cheese available in the market, improvement in quality of feta cheese, and various other enhancements are carried out to meet the demand of feta cheese across the globe.
