“Eswatini is the Kingdom of so many untold stories and we are ready to tell them to the world through this unique hospitality project that is Palazzo Ezulwini Hotel and Convention Center. This property alone will put the country on the map of international tourism and drive the economic growth we all expect”, said Monther Darwish, founder and chairman of Palazzo Hospitality.

Palazzo Ezulwini Hotel and Convention Center covers close to 190 hectares. The Convention Center has 42,000 sqm and features several theatre halls for up to 1,800 patrons, meeting rooms, exhibition halls, and a 340-pax capacity restaurant. The Center will be connected to the hotel through a skywalk link that will feature several retail and dining spaces.

“Eswatini is pleased to have partnered with Palazzo Hospitality and look forward to the most efficient and successful relationship that will make the Kingdom a beacon of hope, prosperity and a tourism centre for the continent but also globally, in the now and for future generations”, mentioned The Minister of Tourism and Environmental Affairs of Eswatini, Honourable Jane Mkhonta-Simelane.

On the other hand, Palazzo Ezulwini Hotel is a 7-floor luxury property spread over 51,000 sq.m. and will offer unmatched services and amenities to discerning guests. The hotel will feature spacious rooms, sophisticated dining experiences, and world-class wellness facilities, positioning it as a key player in both leisure and business tourism for Eswatini and the greater Southern African region.

“We are honoured to be entrusted with such a major task – to develop, manage, and operate what is set to be Africa’s leading hospitality project –

Palazzo Ezulwini Hotel and Convention Center. We are confident that our abilities, expertise, talent, and culture as a hospitality group can make this new property stand out in the entire world, not only within the African continent,” said Baraa Khawash, co-founder and vice-chairwoman of Palazzo Hospitality.
