Risk Mitigation Technologies LLC

Why It Matters:

Unchecked violence leads to high costs—legal battles, increased insurance premiums, turnover, and a damaged brand. By addressing risks early, you safeguard employees, reduce costs, and maintain a positive, productive workplace.

As the Founder of Risk Mitigation Technologies LLC, I bring expertise as a Board-Certified Workplace Violence & Threat Specialist, Certified Crisis Management Professional, and a listed expert with the American Academy of Experts in Traumatic Stress. I specialize in helping organizations manage and mitigate risk, offering training in de-escalation strategies, anger management and situational awareness. I'm also an adjunct lecturer, an active member of the IAPSC, and the author of the book "How to Stay Calm and Aware in Any Situation," providing practical strategies for crisis prevention and response.

With experience offering litigation support in violence-related cases, I deliver actionable, customized solutions to protect your organization and foster long-term safety.

Let's connect to discuss how we can collaborate to build a safer, more resilient workplace.

I am also a member of the International Association of Professional Security Consultants (IAPSC)

Let's Talk™: What inspired you to start Risk Mitigation Technologies, LLC, and how does your background influence your approach?

Joseph Paul Manley: Witnessing the devastating impact of workplace violence and security threats throughout my 35-year career in law enforcement and security management inspired me to start Risk Mitigation Technologies, LLC. My experience as a Police Lieutenant and security management professional with specialized expertise has equipped me with the skills to address these challenges effectively. I realized that a proactive, root-cause approach to security could make a significant difference in creating safer workplaces. Our comprehensive and customized solutions are designed to meet each organization's unique needs, ensuring the most effective strategies are implemented.

Let's Talk™: How does your approach to workplace violence prevention address the specific pain points of your clients, and what strategies do you employ to create a safer work environment?

Joseph Paul Manley: Many organizations struggle with fear and uncertainty surrounding workplace violence, which can lead to excessive costs, decreased morale, disrupted operations and legal liability. At Risk Mitigation Technologies, LLC, we help organizations prevent workplace violence by addressing the underlying causes and early warning signs. Our approach is proactive and focused on addressing these root causes. We conduct a thorough worksite analysis, security risk assessments, develop scenario-based planning, and provide extensive employee training on de-escalation techniques and crisis management. By fostering a culture of safety and trust, we help clients reduce risks, build confidence among employees, and maintain a productive work environment.

Let's Talk™: Can you share an example of how your services have positively impacted a client's organization, addressing their specific challenges?

Joseph Paul Manley: One client, a mid-sized company, was experiencing frequent workplace conflicts that negatively impacted on employee morale and productivity. We conducted a comprehensive security risk assessment and implemented tailored conflict resolution strategies, extensive employee training on de-escalation techniques, and a workplace violence prevention program. Within a few months, the organization saw a significant reduction in conflicts, improved employee morale, and increased productivity. Our holistic approach addressed their specific pain points and fostered a safer and more productive work environment.

I liked this book because it applies to all aspects of one's life, not just corporate or workplace security. It offers valuable advice for everyday life, reminding you to be aware of your surroundings while out doing your errands as well as advice to help figure out uncomfortable situations within one's own family. I highly recommend giving this a read!!!

Please tell us more !

Joseph Paul Manley: In addition to our consulting services, I have authored a book titled "How to Stay Calm and Aware in Any Situation: A Practical Guide to Situational Awareness and De-escalation Strategies." This practical and empowering guide teaches readers how to use situational awareness and de-escalation techniques to stay safe and calm in any situation. Whether you are at work, in public, or at home, you will learn how to assess your environment, avoid dangerous situations, communicate effectively, manage emotions, and resolve conflicts peacefully. By applying the principles and strategies in this book, you will gain more confidence, resilience, and peace of mind in your everyday life.
