

Global Sustainability Summit and Awards 2025 Kicks Off with Landmark Press Conference in London and a Major Announcement

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, February 18, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The highly anticipated fourth edition of the Global Sustainability Summit and Awards 2025 has officially launched with a dynamic press conference, setting the stage for what is expected to be the most impactful edition yet. For the first time in its history, the Summit will span two days, taking place on April 11th at No 10, St. James's Square, and April 12th at the House of Lords, Palace of Westminster, London.

This prestigious global event will bring together world leaders, policymakers, industry experts, and sustainability champions to engage in critical discussions that shape the future of sustainability across key sectors, including renewable energy, circular economy, sustainable finance, climate resilience, food and water security, and more.

A Call to Action for a Sustainable Future

Opening the press conference, Ambassador Canon Otto, FRSA, the Convener of the Global Sustainability Summit and Awards, delivered a powerful message about the urgency of sustainability in today's world. "Sustainability is not just a buzzword—it is the guiding principle for securing a better future for our planet and its people," said Ambassador Otto. "This year's Summit will be a game-changer, not only because of its expanded two-day format but also because we are committed to fostering deeper collaboration among governments, businesses, and civil society to make sustainability a reality for all."
