

Wolfman Jack Howls on With Help From SongLab's AudioGenius

AudioGenius Unlocks New Content and Revenue Opportunities for the Wolfman Jack Archive

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, February 19, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SourceAudio, the music industry's most widely adopted sync platform, highlights how their AI music platform SongLab, has enabled the Wolfman Jack Archive to repurpose and discover new monetization opportunities for shows of the legendary radio host, and most importantly, protect their ownership and copyrights on all platforms.

Audio Genius has significantly streamlined our process, and we are now able to generate additional revenue from previously underutilized or unused content.”

Wolfman Jack Entertainment*

Through its proprietary AI technology, Songlab's AudioGenius allows IP owners like the Wolfman Jack estate to reuse, repurpose, control, and monetize their valuable content archives across today's digital platforms and ecosystem.

"The opportunities that SongLab's AudioGenius has created and revealed for the Wolfman Jack archive is the tip of our AI iceberg," said Andrew Harding, Co-Founder & CEO at SourceAudio. "We're incredibly excited to be providing the Wolfman Jack Archive and other similar clients with the ability to unlock new revenue streams and protect and monetize their content for the modern digital ecosystem."

"Audio Genius has proven to be an invaluable service, as Wolfman Jack continues to reach audiences worldwide via radio and we are still actively producing multiple Wolfman Jack formats to preserve his legacy," said Tod Weston Smith, son of Wolfman Jack and President, Wolfman Jack Entertainment. "Audio Genius has significantly streamlined our process, allowing our Wolfman Jack team to access and retrieve clips from our extensive digital archives in seconds, rather than spending hours searching, and we are now able to generate additional revenue from previously underutilized or unused content.”

SongLab’s AudioGenius is designed to simplify the discovery, management, and monetization of existing audio content by seamlessly scanning media files to identify, separate, and tag every audio file with descriptive metadata.

Among the many benefits that AudioGenius delivers, users will benefit from:

- Instant Audio Recognition: Automatically identify and index entire libraries
- Advanced Stem Separation: Extract clean vocals, music, and effects in seconds
- Real-Time Tracking: Monitor content performance across all platforms
- YouTube Content ID Integration: Automatically claim and monetize IP
