Comintelli launches AI powered Telli™ Research Assistant

STOCKHOLM, STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, February 19, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Comintelli (publ), a leading provider of Market and Competitive Intelligence (MCI) software, today announced the launch of the next generation of Telli™ Research Assistant, a Gen-AI-powered research tool integrated into its Intelligence2day® platform.

> " Telli™ is purpose-built for enterprise intelligence workflows, ensuring every insight is not only rapid but also verifiable, secure, and aligned with business priorities."
> Jesper Martell, CEO at Comintelli

Telli™ is designed specifically for intelligence professionals, overcoming the limitations of generic AI tools by ensuring source transparency, eliminating hallucinations, and preventing fabricated references. Built on a dedicated Large Language Model (LLM) optimized for Intelligence2day®, Telli™ delivers precise, context-aware insights tailored to business-critical research needs.

"Over the past months, we have collaborated closely with key customers to set a new benchmark for AI-driven market intelligence," said Jesper Martell, CEO of Comintelli.

"Telli™ is purpose-built for enterprise intelligence workflows, ensuring every insight is not only rapid but also verifiable, secure, and aligned with business priorities."

Security and privacy are at the core of Telli™. All data remains strictly private, never shared or used for external AI training, making it a safe and compliant choice for organizations handling sensitive competitive intelligence.

Key Features & Capabilities:
 Ask Anything – Get AI-generated responses to research questions within seconds.
