Custom Integrators, a division of Stereo Planet based in Bend, Oregon, today announced its expansion into commercial audiovisual (AV) and security solutions. This strategic growth builds upon the company's established reputation in residential automation and marks a significant evolution in the scope of services offered to both homes and businesses.

By leveraging our expertise in residential automation and technology integration, we're uniquely positioned to deliver solutions for businesses that combine functionality with aesthetic excellence.”

Jon Houston

The expansion includes comprehensive commercial AV solutions and advanced security systems, such as door access control, intrusion/burglar alarms, surveillance systems, and integrated AV setups. Sera is also an Alarm.com dealer and offers monitoring services to ensure complete protection for commercial and residential properties alike.

"This expansion is a natural progression for Sera Custom Integrators," said Jon Houston, General Manager. "By leveraging our expertise in residential automation and technology integration, we're uniquely positioned to deliver solutions for businesses that combine functionality with aesthetic excellence.”

Sera's Commercial AV Services Include:

- Integrated meeting and conference rooms
- Control systems for managing AV devices and environments
- Installed sound systems for optimal audio quality
- Sound masking for enhanced privacy

Room and desk scheduling systems for efficient workspace management
Wireless collaboration for seamless team communication
Presentation spaces with advanced audiovisual technologies
Voice communications for enhanced connectivity
Large venue and house of worship AV setups
Paging systems for clear and reliable announcements

Sera's Security Services Include:

State-of-the-art door access control to manage building entry
Intrusion/burglar alarms to protect against unauthorized access
Advanced surveillance systems for constant monitoring
Integrated security solutions for seamless protection
