Bird nests, bee-keeping zones, and duck houses will be integrated into the landscape to enhance the biodiversity of the area.

Jonathan Emery, CEO of Aldar Development said: “We are extremely excited to introduce The Wilds, our third residential community in Dubai and one that will become the most sought-after green development in the emirate. A design masterpiece inspired by Mother Nature, The Wilds is a place where people and nature will live and grow together, where children are encouraged to be curious in an environment that will not only nurture their health, well-being and development, but also help them understand their responsibility to protect the environment for future generations.”

ECO-FRIENDLY FAMILY COMMUNITY

Located along Sheikh Mohammed bin Zayed Road, opposite Global Village, The Wilds will offer 1,700 homes, including five- and six-bedroom mansions designed by Lebanese architect Nabil Gholam, as well as three- to five-bedroom villas and one- to three-bedroom apartments.
