"I wanted to create a short podcast that you can listen to quickly, where no international industry topic is off-limits. The guests are all friends and speakers at our ITTV International Forum and TechInEntertainment conferences. The industry is constantly evolving, and even experts have questions. Plus, we need to stay attuned to shifting audience perspectives—that's why I incorporate a Gen Z question in each episode."

No industry topic is off-limits—each guest, a leader in their field, offers a glimpse into the forces driving change in media, from mergers and acquisitions to artificial intelligence, NFTs, the metaverse, and the evolution of content production and distribution.

Adding an exciting twist, each episode ends with a cliffhanger: the current guest poses a
