

NASEF Forms Consulting Group to Help Educators + Esports Leaders Address Learning Challenges Through Scholastic Esports

Support Offered for Scholastic Esports Programs to Positively Impact Youth Engagement, Achievement Gaps, and More

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, February 24, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Network of Academic and Scholastic Esports Federations (NASEF) is launching a scholastic esports consulting division to equip educators, administrators, businesses, and esports leaders with the tools to implement tailored scholastic esports programs that foster student growth.

Today's education system faces significant challenges that impact student success, well-being, and community. Issues such as youth engagement, achievement gaps, and school affiliation hinder students from reaching their full potential. Creating an inclusive and supportive environment where every student feels valued remains a critical goal – and NASEF's framework is proven to do just that.

“NASEF's scholastic esports programs offer a unique, research-backed approach to these challenges,” said Gerald Solomon, NASEF Executive Director. “By engaging students through interest-driven learning and collaboration, NASEF connects students' passions to purposeful skill development. This consulting division will assist leaders as they leverage scholastic esports to enhance engagement, build community, promote academic success, and support leadership
