

Cay Galgon Life House Continues to Transform Lives for Countless At-Risk Mothers and Infants

Proceeds from “Kentucky Derby” Themed Gala to Fund Residential and Community Outreach Programs for Pregnant Women and Mothers of Infants

LEHIGH VALLEY, PA, UNITED STATES, February 25, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Cay Galgon Life House \(CGLH\), a vital lifeline for at-risk mothers and their babies, remains steadfast in its mission to provide safe shelter, essential resources, and life-changing support to women facing homelessness and instability. Through its Residential and Community Outreach Programs, CGLH equips marginalized mothers with the tools they need to achieve independence and stability.

Now in its 13th year, the organization’s annual Gala and beloved dessert auction will raise crucial funds to sustain these transformative programs. This year’s Kentucky Derby-themed event, set for Saturday, March 1, 2025, at 6:00 PM in the Musikfest Café at SteelStacks in Bethlehem, PA, will bring together community members, local leaders, and dedicated supporters for an unforgettable evening. Guests will enjoy Southern charm, signature cocktails, live entertainment, a formal dinner, and the signature dessert auction, featuring locally crafted artisan cakes. Proceeds will directly fund safe housing, essential supplies, education, and career development opportunities for vulnerable mothers and their children.

“We prepare our clients for a life of self-reliance, breaking the generational cycles of poverty for those experiencing homelessness, housing instability, food insecurity, and other vulnerabilities,” explained Paula Albanese, Executive Director, Cay Galgon Life House. “We believe all mothers and babies deserve to be seen, known, and loved—and we envision a community where every woman and child is supported, nurtured, and empowered.”

Cay Galgon Life House Helps Mothers and Their Babies At-Risk of Homelessness

A highlight of the evening will be the Gala's 2025 guest speaker, a Residential Program graduate who will share her inspiring and heartwarming testimony: "During one of the hardest times of my life, I found myself at Cay Galgon Life House—pregnant, scared, and desperate for a fresh start," she said. "This home, this safe space, gave all of us more than just shelter. It gave us hope, and it gave us the support we needed to heal."

Complex and multi-layered challenges such as absent parental figures, rising housing costs, limited job opportunities, wages below the poverty line, a lack of access to childcare, and mental and physical health disparities contribute to homelessness and financial instability. The funds raised from the Gala are critical to sustaining and expanding CGLH's programs:

This journey hasn't been easy. There were nights when I cried myself to sleep, wondering if things would ever get better. With Cay Galgon Life House, you don't just survive—you thrive."
