

The Grant Portal Lists Private Funding Institutions to help Non-profits since the end of USAID

Nonprofit organizations seek funding sources at The Grant Portal, a leading internet catalog of available grants for non-profits and private grant providers

DEERFIELD BEACH, FL, UNITED STATES, February 25, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The current white house administration shut down multiple federal agencies including the offices of USAID. Needless to say, USAID and its billions of dollars in humanitarian aid have an uncertain future.

There are thousands of private foundations that offer funding to qualified nonprofit organizations, however, these organizations are difficult to identify. The Grant Portal makes this task easy. The Grant Portal list private foundations that offer such grant funding to qualified nonprofit organizations.

Users can find grant providers by using the platform's proprietary search engine to locate private foundations by location, interests, past awarded grants, amounts awarded, financial strength and more. The Grant Portal offers a free grant alert newsletter to alert organizations of new grant opportunities.

About The Grant Portal

The Grant Portal is the internet's largest catalog of grant providers that are currently accepting grant applications.
