

UAMCO MRO selected Pentagon2000 ERP as their system of choice.

UAMCO MRO received its First CFM LEAP Engine from GE Aerospace and required a world-class ERP system to ensure excellence of service.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, February 26, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- United Aerospace Maintenance Company (UAMCO) Ltd, (HQ Larnaca, Cyprus) & Pentagon 2000 ERP (Global HQ NYC, USA) are excited to announce that UAMCO has opened the Engine Overhaul Workshop coinciding with the induction of the first CFM LEAP engine from GE Aerospace. While doing so, Pentagon 2000's ERP has been selected as the strategic ERP system, essential to ensure operational excellence, certification and digitalization.

Theodoros Savvides - Admin, IT & Stores Manager said: "UAMCO stands as a beacon of excellence in Maintenance, Repair, and Overhaul (MRO) services. Our journey began with a mission to redefine the standards of aircraft engine maintenance, ensuring safety, reliability, and performance are not just met but exceeded. As part of this thrive for excellence, we sought an equally excellent ERP which has been designed for the aviation business, that fits our current and future needs without any custom developments or complications. Pentagon 2000 ERP has met these requirements and thanks to their rapid deployment methodology - we were able to go live within a matter of weeks".

Guy Danon, Managing Director EU at Pentagon 2000 said: "We were honored to be selected by UAMCO and to become a partner at Uamco's exciting journey. Uamco's decision to work with Pentagon2000 reflects the investments we are making in bringing our market leadership and 39
