Quest House SF is a critical resource for the transgender and the nonbinary community. It offers safe housing and wraparound support for individuals recovering from gender affirming surgeries. GCC's donation is part of its mission to create affirming spaces beyond medical care, ensuring trans individuals have the resources they need to heal and thrive.

"At GCC (Gender Confirmation Center), we believe that comprehensive care extends beyond the operating room, Quest House SF offers an essential, safe environment for those in need, and we proudly support their mission by contributing to a space that fosters healing and community,"

GCC President

Julianne Shirey said.

Representatives from Quest House SF expressed their gratitude for the contribution, emphasizing its significant impact on residents.

"Having access to basic home necessities like laundry and kitchen appliances can make a huge difference on our guests' healing and wellbeing," Quest House SF Executive Director Owen Dempsey said. "This donation from Gender Confirmation Center helps ensure that our space remains comfortable, functional, and affirming for those who need it most."
