Setting New Standards in Championship Golf Course Design

The Khargar Valley Golf Course in Navi Mumbai is poised to become a game-changer for Indian golf. Designed by Golf Design India (GDI), this par-72 championship course is a shining example of how innovation and sustainability can redefine the golfing experience. Commissioned by CIDCO, the project underwent a competitive open tender, with GDI's design emerged as the best choice, surpassing entries from national and international firms. This course enhances the region's sporting infrastructure and sets a new standard for golf course design in India.

The course's design embodies the future of Indian golf, combining cutting-edge techniques with a deep respect for the natural environment. The site was surrounded by hills, intersected by water channels, and presented unique challenges. GDI's team conducted an in-depth study of the land's hydrology to ensure the course complements and preserves its natural surroundings. The design offers a harmonious blend of challenge and beauty by incorporating undulating greens, strategically placed slopes, and water bodies.

"Khargar Valley is a testament to the future of golf in India—where innovation meets nature. Our vision was to create a course that inspires golfers and showcases the immense potential of Indian golf course design," says Vijit Nandrajog, Chief Architect at Golf Design India

The course features two loops of nine holes, conveniently close to the clubhouse. Highlights include an island green on Hole 9, the par-3 Hole 7, and India's longest golf hole, offering an unparalleled experience for golfers of all skill levels. These unique elements are strategically designed to engage and challenge players while the surrounding views immerse them in a tranquil, natural escape.

Khargar Valley is a testament to the future of golf in India. Here innovation meets nature. We aimed to craft a course that challenges golfers and highlights India's golf design excellence.”

Vijit Nandrajog, Chief Architect at Golf Design India

Khargar Valley Golf Course also stands out for its player-centric design. The greens are crafted to utilize the land's natural contours, offering varied playing strategies catering to beginners and seasoned golfers. This ensures a balance of accessibility and challenge, making the course a destination for all.

From project management to execution, GDI has delivered a turnkey solution that reflects their expertise and commitment to excellence. The team overcame significant challenges, including rocky terrains and monsoon conditions, to bring this landmark project to fruition. Their work showcases their technical prowess and ability to create courses that resonate with players and the environment.

Since 2007, GDI has been a leader in golf course design, construction, and course maintenance. Its portfolio spans championship courses, real estate-centric developments, and practice academies. GDI's holistic approach and emphasis on sustainability make it the preferred choice for clients seeking world-class golf course solutions.

The Khargar Valley Golf Course is more than just a project; it's a vision for the future of golf in India. As it nears completion, it is ready to welcome players to a course that integrates strategy, innovation, and natural beauty seamlessly. For developers, stakeholders, and golf enthusiasts, GDI's work at Khargar Valley is an inspiring blueprint for the future.
