

RadSite Launches Monthly Complimentary Webinar Series

Presentations will cover emerging trends in the imaging field and provide a retrospective look at RadSite's leadership as a quality improvement organization

ANNAPOLIS, MD, UNITED STATES, March 4, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- RadSite™, a leading accrediting agency promoting performance and quality-based imaging practices, today announced the launch of its spring webinar series. The upcoming webinars highlight emerging trends in the imaging field, including remote scanning and the use of Cone Beam CT imaging as a point-of-care option for specialty practices. In addition, a special webinar will feature the founders of RadSite, as the accreditation agency celebrates its 20th anniversary in April.

“The RadSite team is excited to co-present with industry thought leaders to discuss RadSite’s new Remote Scanning Accreditation Program covering MRI and CT systems and the latest trends in the Cone Beam CT imaging field,” notes Garry Carneal, RadSite’s president and chief executive officer. “In addition, a special 20th anniversary webinar will feature RadSite’s past and current leadership to discuss the imaging field’s history and future direction.”
