HATFIELD, PA, UNITED STATES, March 4, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- March 19th marks National Automatic Door Day, a celebration of the innovation that has transformed how people interact with buildings around the world. Door Services Corporation is proud to honor this day by highlighting the essential role automatic doors play in creating safe, accessible, and welcoming spaces for all.

Automatic doors have become an indispensable part of modern architecture, enabling effortless access to businesses, hospitals, schools, and more. They not only improve the flow of foot traffic but also ensure compliance with accessibility standards, promote energy efficiency, and enhance the overall user experience.

"National Automatic Door Day is a moment to celebrate the innovation that makes buildings more inclusive and user-friendly," said Krista Rivers, Marketing Manager at Door Services Corporation and AAADM Marketing Co-Chair. "At Door Services, we are proud to be able to enhance accessibility and safety through automated pedestrian access solutions, helping businesses meet the needs of their customers."

A Commitment to Accessibility

As a trusted leader in automatic door service and installation, Door Services Corporation has been at the forefront of delivering customized solutions for over 50 years. With thousands of doors installed across a variety of industries, the company continues to innovate and address the growing demand for enhanced accessibility and security.
