

DUBAI EXCLUSIVE: EXANTE Horizon to Gather Top Financial Experts to Take Stock of the First 100 Days of Trumponomics 2.0

DUBAI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES, March 5, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Against a backdrop of geopolitical uncertainty and shifting financial markets, global fintech leader EXANTE is set to host one of its flagship Horizon events at the Palace Downtown in Dubai on 8 April 2025. Following its recent expansion in the region, EXANTE brings together world-class economic experts to explore “Shifting Horizons: The Middle East in the Age of Trumponomics 2.0.”

Moderated by EXANTE’s Editor-in-Chief, Dr. Renée Friedman, this exclusive event will delve into the economic impact of US President Trump’s second term on global financial markets, with a particular focus on the Middle East’s evolving role in trade, energy, and investment flows.

Confirmed panellists include:

Serena Sebastiani – Director of Financial Services Advisory & Virtual Assets Consulting Lead, PwC Middle East

Deepak Mehra – Chief Economist, Commercial Bank of Dubai

Zeina Rizk – Co-Head of Fixed Income, Amwal Capital Partners (MENA specialist)

The investor forum is designed for institutional investors, market strategists, and financial thought leaders seeking to decode the latest policy shifts, market trends, and investment opportunities in an era of heightened economic complexity.

With the Middle East playing a pivotal role in global financial markets, this event offers a rare opportunity to gain cutting-edge insights, connect with influential industry figures, and position for the next wave of market movements.

The event will be conducted in English and will conclude with an exclusive networking reception.
