What Could Be a Key Driver Behind This Anticipated Growth?

The growing pediatric population is a primary driver of Hexyon market expansion. This demographic, which includes infants, children, and adolescents, is increasing due to:

- Improved healthcare access worldwide
- Lower child mortality rates, leading to a larger pediatric population
- Higher birth rates in certain regions

Hexyon's combination vaccine approach offers essential protection against six serious infectious diseases in a single shot, reducing the need for multiple vaccinations and improving adherence.
