Hinchman also emphasizes the park's focus on creating memorable experiences. "I love seeing kids and families being active together. We love being the location choice for a child's big day and seeing families come together and celebrate is very rewarding," he said. "Our focus is our guests. From the trampolines to the park design, we strive to put ourselves in the socks of our guests and their parents. We have a high bar and want to deliver a best-in-class park."
