What factors are driving the Norditropin market?

A primary driver of Norditropin market growth is the rising prevalence of chronic illnesses, which require long-term medical management. Conditions such as growth hormone deficiency, Turner syndrome, and Prader-Willi syndrome benefit significantly from Norditropin therapy, which supports growth, metabolic function, muscle strength, and overall health.

Several factors contribute to the increase in chronic diseases:

- Unhealthy lifestyle choices
- Urbanization and environmental influences
- Obesity epidemic
- Chronic stress levels
- Greater diagnostic precision and awareness
- Genetic predisposition and healthcare disparities

According to the International Diabetes Federation, approximately 537 million adults (aged 20–79) had diabetes in 2021, with numbers expected to rise to 643 million by 2030 and 783 million by 2045. The increasing burden of chronic conditions like diabetes is contributing to the expansion of the Norditropin market.
