Industry Highlights

In December 2023, BASF launched Irgastab® PUR 71, an advanced antioxidant designed to boost performance and ensure regulatory compliance in polyurethane and polyol foams. Unlike traditional anti-scorch additives, it does not contain aromatic amines and addresses their inherent shortcomings. This solution focuses on safety and sustainability, meeting the growing industry demand for eco-friendly and compliant products.

In September 2023, Covestro AG and the Selena Group of Poland signed an agreement to expand a more sustainable type of polyurethane (PU) foams for building thermal insulation. The material is ISSC Plus licensed to comprise plant-based feedstocks through the mass balancing approach, reducing the carbon footprint by 60% against fossil-derived competitors.
