

Tariff Turmoil: How a 20% Import Tax Threatens American Small Businesses and How One US Manufacturer Is Beating It

Big Boy Bamboo delays price increases despite harmful 20% tariffs, offering customers pre-tariff pricing and special discounts while inventory lasts.

LAS VEGAS, NV, UNITED STATES, March 13, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Big Boy Bamboo, a leading manufacturer of eco-friendly clothing designed exclusively for Big & Tall men, announces that due to the recently imposed 20% tariffs on imported goods from China, including bamboo viscose fabric, future price adjustments will be necessary. However, Big Boy Bamboo strongly opposes these tariff increases, recognizing them as detrimental taxes levied upon American businesses and consumers.

Andrew DiMino President of Big Boy Bamboo

Recognizing the substantial financial burden these tariffs impose upon customers, Big Boy Bamboo commits to postponing the implementation of the new prices for an extended period. Specifically, price adjustments will not be effective until new shipments produced after applying these tariffs arrive at their warehouses.

Big Boy Bamboo actively encourages customers to take advantage of current inventory at pre-tariff pricing in a dedicated effort to support customers through this challenging period. Customers are urged to maximize savings by purchasing from the company's existing inventory, benefiting from substantial discounts on multi-pack bundles:

- * 10% OFF all 3-Packs and 4-Packs
- * 20% OFF all 7-Packs

Additionally, customers can enhance their savings through exclusive Spring coupon codes:

* LOCKIN10 for 10% OFF orders of $75+

* BAMBOO15 for 15% OFF orders of $125+

These new tariffs are essentially a tax that punishes American businesses and customers, making everyday necessities more expensive without benefiting our economy.”
