Introducing VIVIBUDS

Step beyond watching—VIVIBUDS helps creators connect through animation.”

of VIVIBUDS*

VIVIBUDS is one of the first applications to seamlessly merge social media with animation creation. The app allows users to communicate and collaborate through 2D anime-style animations, combining individual creativity with social interaction. The platform encourages the integration of new characters, props, and storylines into others' videos, enabling a global, collaborative community of creators.

Collaborative Creation at Its Core

At the heart of VIVIBUDS is the ability to modify and personalize existing videos. Users can adjust assets like characters, backgrounds, and text, creating an evolving cycle of content that allows for unique creative contributions from the community. With the ability to create up to 100 characters per account and manage multiple profiles, creators can explore various styles and engage with different communities. All assets are shareable across linked accounts, promoting ongoing collaboration and development.

A Platform for Limitless Expression

VIVIBUDS encourages creators to explore their full potential without limitations based on gender, body type, or appearance. All assets, from clothing to accessories, are accessible to every character, offering 100% access to the platform's wardrobe. The intuitive tools within the app make animation creation accessible for everyone, from casual video creators to those producing more elaborate narratives.

Fostering Personal Expression and Innovation

VIVIBUDS is a platform for personal expression and innovation. The app connects users with a diverse global community of creators, allowing them to share, discover, and collaborate on animations. With new character items, outfits, and video props added weekly, VIVIBUDS ensures a constant flow of fresh content to inspire innovation and creative exploration.

A Global Creative Network

Drawing on the rich influences of both Japanese and Western animation, VIVIBUDS provides a unique space for creators to bring their ideas to life. Whether producing a dance video, crafting a story, or experimenting with animation, VIVIBUDS offers the tools to create and share without interruption, all while remaining ad-free.
