

Albuquerque Medical Assistant School Announces March 2025 Opening

ALBUQUERQUE, NM, UNITED STATES, March 14, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Albuquerque Medical Assistant School is thrilled to announce the opening of its new location. Beginning March 2025, aspiring medical professionals in Albuquerque, New Mexico have a new allied healthcare option: an 18-week medical assistant program that includes in-person, hands-on training in a real medical office. Conveniently located at 4901 Lang Avenue NE, Ste 100, Albuquerque, NM 87109, the school aims to educate aspiring healthcare workers on the skills and certification they need to become medical assistants.

Albuquerque's newest medical assistant school prepares students to work alongside other healthcare professionals, through a curriculum that helps students graduate debt-free in 18 weeks. Students participate in onsite, hands-on labs through a local healthcare partner clinic. They conclude the certification with an 80-hour externship, one that allows learners to work under the direct guidance of experienced medical professionals in Albuquerque. The goal is to make hands-on, healthcare training accessible while helping students to graduate debt-free and save tens of thousands of dollars compared to traditional training options. To accomplish this goal, Albuquerque Medical Assistant School offers flexible payment options. Students can choose to pay in full or choose from a variety of plan options. Students can also work with the school to create a custom payment plan that aligns with their budget and needs.

By attending Albuquerque Medical Assistant School, students will grow industry-ready in weeks, developing skills in anatomy and physiology, neurology, healthcare ethics, and phlebotomy. Students also learn essential patient care, from intake and vital signs to communication and medication management. Additionally, they train on administration skills in billing and coding, maintaining patient electronic medical records, and general office management. "We're thrilled to bring a new medical assistant school to Albuquerque, providing students with a hands-on, career-focused education to meet the growing demand for skilled healthcare professionals,” said Chris Lofton, chief executive officer at Zollege. “Our mission is to remove traditional education barriers and empower local learners with the tools and training they need to succeed in this vital field.”

Once students complete their certification through Albuquerque Medical Assistant School, they’re eligible to find employment in a variety of outpatient, clinical, hospital, or research facilities within their community.

One common destination for Albuquerque program graduates is Aspire Allergy & Sinus. In partnership with Albuquerque Medical Assistant School, Aspire Allergy & Sinus connects certified medical assistants with meaningful career opportunities. Dr. Overstreet, Chief Quality Officer at the practice, recognizes the value of newly trained medical assistants in providing comprehensive care.

“Our local healthcare industry faces significant healthcare staffing shortages within their clinics, ourselves included,” he said. “We have been proud to partner with Zollege’s Medical Assistant program which helps local healthcare employers better serve their communities, while providing students with an accelerated path to a career in healthcare.”
