

Free Webinar - Unveiling NIEMOpen 6.0 Release

A New Era of Data Interoperability

WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES, March 24, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- NIEMOpen, the leading data exchange framework, formerly known as the National Information Exchange Model (NIEM), has announced the upcoming release of its highly anticipated Version 6.0. This milestone marks a significant evolution for NIEMOpen, now operating under the OASIS Open consortium, renowned for its robust data standards and rigorous vetting processes. This transition solidifies NIEMOpen's position as a globally recognized and trusted open-source data modeling platform and methodology.

Building upon its legacy as the cornerstone of semantic and syntactic interoperability across diverse domains in the U.S. and internationally, NIEMOpen 6.0 introduces groundbreaking features and tools designed to streamline and accelerate information sharing. The new version boasts a technology-agnostic common model format, enabling seamless representation in XML, JSON, OWL, and potentially other formats, while providing automated translation between them.
