Hurricane Helene made landfall in Florida as a Category 4 hurricane in late September, impacting communities throughout the Southeast, like Augusta. In October, Caring For Others hosted a distribution providing more than $750,000 in merchandise to Augusta residents.

“Our goal is to allow every person impacted by the disaster to get back on their feet with these shoes, clothing and household goods,” said Caring For Others Founder and CEO Eslene Richmond-Shockley. “We hope this third phase of disaster relief will uplift the community impacted by the recent disasters. We are grateful to the contributions of our partnerships.”

‘The Caring Convoy’ by Caring for Others is a coalition of local companies that aim to provide immediate aid, relief and comfort to areas severely impacted by catastrophic natural disasters across the United States and overseas. Caring For Others Founder and CEO Eslene Richmond-Shockley has been providing relief funds and supplies to those impacted by dozens of natural disasters over the last two decades.
