PUERTO AVENTURAS, QUINTANO ROO, MEXICO, March 17, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The Puerto Aventuras International Film Festival (PAIFF) is proud to announce its highly anticipated second edition, showcasing more than 70 films and creative projects from 29 countries. Taking place April 2–6, 2025, PAIFF promises an unforgettable celebration of international cinema, art, and culture in one of Mexico's most beautiful coastal communities.

Among this year's most anticipated feature presentations is the festival premiere of Greenpeace Mexico's groundbreaking documentary, "Voices of the Mayan Jungle: A Battle for Life" (Voces de la Selva Maya: Una Batalla por la Vida). This powerful film examines the ongoing devastation of Mexico's "green lung" — the Mayan jungle — highlighting threats from deforestation, industrial agriculture, mega pig farms, real estate development, and the controversial Mayan Train project. The documentary voices to Indigenous communities and environmental defenders fighting for their homes and future. As Greenpeace Mexico's campaign coordinator Carlos Samayoa states, "We want the cry of the jungle to be heard throughout

Puerto Aventuras

Good Times!

Mexico and beyond its borders.”

Special guests from Greenpeace Mexico and local environmental leaders will join the screening for a Q&A session, offering firsthand insight into this urgent environmental and human rights issue.

PAIFF offers attendees an exciting array of one-of-a-kind screening venues, creating an immersive five-day festival experience, including opening and closing events and three full days of morning and evening screenings, such as:
