During the exhibition, Mr. Saleem Musallam shared his excitement, stating, "Due to the DRX9000's global demand, the attention it received at Arab Health, along with insights from the industry, reinforces our position as the world leader in non-surgical spinal decompression. We welcomed visitors from countries including Cameroon, Taiwan, Indonesia, Egypt, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Italy, Kenya, Switzerland, Uzbekistan, Serbia, and Sudan. It was a fantastic opportunity to connect and exchange insights!"

Excite Medical highlighted the DRX9000, which is widely regarded as the best spinal decompression table in the industry. Its advanced technology provides an effective alternative to spine surgery, ensuring non-invasive spinal decompression that significantly enhances patient care and outcomes.

Also at the event, Dr. Michael Foreit, an osteopathic physician specializing in trauma and non-surgical spinal decompression, joined Saleem Musallam. Together, they engaged with healthcare professionals, discussing the DRX9000's impressive capabilities and its critical role in advancing spinal health.

Excite Medical's collaboration with USF Medical Engineering and the USF Morsani College of Medicine was also featured during the exhibition, showcasing the company's commitment to supporting Florida's educational institutions and fostering innovation in medical technology.
