

The Forex Trading Coach Reaches 16 Year Milestone of Coaching Forex Traders

The Forex Trading Coach has reached the remarkable achievement of 16 consecutive years of helping ordinary people become profitable traders via their training.

NELSON, SOUTH ISLAND, NEW ZEALAND, March 19, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- In a world where most trading coaches come and go with the market cycles, May 2025 marks the 16th anniversary of "The Forex Trading Coach," a program that has quietly transformed the financial lives of more than 4,000 people across 109 countries without the flashy marketing or unrealistic promises that plague this industry.

Andrew Mitchem, Founder of The Forex Trading Coach said, "When I started this journey back in 2009, I never imagined we'd reach so many people. I was just a dairy farmer from New Zealand who discovered a reliable way to trade the markets in just 30 minutes a day, and I wanted to share it with others."

What makes Andrew's approach unique is its remarkable consistency through drastically different market conditions.

While many trading systems falter when faced with certain market conditions, Andrew's methodology has delivered profits through:

The aftermath of the 2008 financial crisis, the European debt crisis, Brexit market turbulence, COVID market crashes, post-pandemic inflation, and rising interest rate environments.

"The principles of good trading don't change," Andrew explains. "Markets will always exhibit the same patterns and behaviours because human psychology doesn't change. What worked for us in 2009 still works today because we focus on high-probability, high-reward setups with strict risk management."

This consistency isn't just marketing talk – it's backed by verifiable results.

Since 2010, the Daily chart trades Andrew shares with his members have averaged a 27% annual return (assuming just 0.5% risk per trade), with every single year closing in profit. This is from just the one time frame chart. Many other trades are posted daily across multiple other time frame charts for members to follow.

One misconception about Andrew's program is that it's only for experienced traders. In reality, many of his most successful students began with zero trading knowledge.

"Some of my best success stories over the 16 years are people who came in completely fresh," Andrew says. "They had no bad habits to unlearn, no complicated strategies cluttering their minds. They simply followed the process exactly as taught, and their results often surpassed those who'd been trading for years before finding us."

What separates The Forex Trading Coach from countless other programs is its emphasis on structured education combined with daily implementation.

"Fresh fish is not handed on a plate, the training teaches student how to fish!" said Andrew "Every trade shared comes with a complete breakdown of the setup, entry and exit points, and risk management strategy. Students learn while you earn."

This approach creates a powerful learning environment where members see real trades being taken and can follow along with their own accounts, accelerating the learning curve dramatically.
